Electronic Transition Binders

Stay tuned. Soon you will be receiving an email regarding electronic transition binders. This is a way to reflect and combine your notes from the past year to ensure the next student in your position is ready. This will count as your final biweekly and will be due before the close of the academic year. You will only be able to submit it via one drive as an electronic document with supporting evidence. More information to come.

Election 2018

The General Election 2018 is underway. Candidates have applied and will be attending a Candidate Briefing soon. To find out who is running, details on special events such as the open forums, and to find out about Voting Day Parties please visit the election webpage at <https://asicalstatela.org/general-elections>

Or contact Adriana Navarrete at asieoc@calstatela.edu

Election Free Zone. The ASI office is an Election Free Zone. By discussing the 2018 election in the office outside of a closed door you can have a grievance filed on you or the organization. Please refrain from discussing the Election.

Can you endorse a candidate? Yes! You can endorse a candidate as a current ASI College Rep but no Election business should be occurring in the office. That is including but not limited to using computers, conference room, and meeting with a candidate in the office.

What are the rules for office usage if I am running as a candidate? You may not use the ASI office for any activity relating to the ASI General Election except those outlined in the Election codes.

Do you know the Election Codes? If not I highly suggest reading them here https://asicalstatela.org/sites/default/files/content/upload/2016/11/approved-policy-004-adm-elections-committee-code-procedure-policy-004_0.pdf

Alternative Break 2019 Class

If you will be a current student and are interested in the AB 2019 Class please attend the March 22, 2018 informational. All the details will be given during and following that meeting.
