 - a. Students with Dependents at Cal State LA—Family clothing and Used Book Swap—5/5/23-5/6/23-- $700.00

President of Students with Dependents at CSULA: This event is a youth family clothing and book club. We are partnering with the College of Ethnic Studies Summit, and we are working toward I've gotten an equitable education across the valley. So, for this event, given so many of the concerns of students with regards to basic needs, we thought that a clothing swap would be helpful to offset some of that financial burden that same student parents and students were dependent on other students. So we are requesting funds for merchandise of chest 10 Club shirts for those participating tank sweaters as well for those that express interest in that and everything will be used for the event. So, we will have our University logo, the University logo, student org logo so they have my logo whatnot, we're also asking for printing funds requires because this is next week's activity event. So we're trying to make sure that the work gets across campus wide. And lastly, we are also requesting, I believe it's four wardrobe boxes. So those are each $50. And while some students have kind of gathered secondhand work on boxes, we also realized that, because of the promotion of the event, we're going to need more. So that is why we are requesting about $700 from the finance committee.

Dena: Asks why the total is $571.00, when they're asking for $700.00

Students with Dependents at CSULA: Explains that they're accounting for taxes.

Chair: I'm going to request pending approval from the committee and I'm asking if you could resend the funding request reflecting the amount of $626.25 instead.

We also give them a sneak peek for what we offer for next semester. Golden Eagle Makers: We have a couple of projects that we have already completed. We realized that we are interacting with the community on a much higher scale than we anticipated. With that we see though our social media presence that there lacks a lot of professionalism, but unity within our work. So, we believe that the clothing brand will not only help with the future products, but also help connect out club with the rest of the people on campus and the surrounding community.

Curtis: How many t-shirts are you getting for the $270.00?

Barnaby: We fund up to $7.85 per shirt and $14.40 per hoodie.

Curtis: Due to our policy, we will have to amend your amount down to $617.00.

So, FTC has asked us to go ahead and measuring cubes for robots to see if the robots are factors and seeing that the FTC essentially is asking us a community service organization to help them correct the measuring cubes. This event will give students an opportunity to know what organizations are outside of campus that they can get involved with.

Curtis: So, for this specific funding request would be to design and build sizing cubes for that specific event coming up?

Golden Eagle Makers: It is open to a certain amount of people but yes, it is to design and build the cubes.

Curtis: How do does your club usually get funding?

the students here. They will be able to get interviews and have the possibility of being hired on the spot. There will also be food at the end.

Curtis: I see that you have a request for pens and markers, this is considered office supplies, right Dena?

Dena: Yes, it is office supplies, but it's for the purpose to advertise the event.

National Society of Leadership Success: And they'll be used to complete the job applications.
