We will now call on members of the public in order of registration before moving on to the general public.

III. Informational Items

➤ President Berenecea Johnson Eanes

- Eanes: Chancellors in the process of developing Strategic Plan and university will follow suit in the Spring. They will also be working on an updated Master Plan, which is required for any building and structure development. There is a King Hall website that is available for students to provide their concerns to be addressed. There will also be planning to accommodate for the Summer Olympics (LA 2028) to ensure students are not affected or disrupted. (She gave more updates but I had to lock in my eye contact)
- Arwa: Asked if there were any updates surrounding enrollment so she can bring it back to her advisory committee.
- Eanes: Encouraged Arwa to meet with VP Day to get data and shared that the CSU is showing decline in enrollment overall. The university has been trying to work with retaining, while also meeting the target enrollment or above. Finances are the first reason why student’s dropout, which declined with the pandemic. Basic Needs is also another reason as students aren’t aware of resources available or are too intimidated to go to those centers. There are also challenges to academic advising, DFW concerns connect straight to enrollment.
- Arwa: Asked how we can be involved in the LA 28 Committee
- Eanes: Said she will ensure Victor establishes a communication link. Additionally, she mentioned that she is interested in bringing in volunteers for the event.
- Ananya: Asked if there were any ways to avoid cutting research courses
- Eanes: Clarified that there can't just be course for courses sake as you must trim enrollment to fit enrollment. There is a strong narrative about "cutting courses," but there is a process to right siding the courses with the budget.
- Claudio: From the perspective of appropriate planning, courses are to be offered in coordinate with enrollment. That is why some courses are offered on a semester basis as opposed to year.
- Ananya: Clarified that it is independent research courses that she is most concerned about
- Eanes: the dean must do scheduling for the entire college, so every course enrollment for every major must be looked at for that college
- Eanes leaves, transition to Claudio
- Claudio Lyndo: Highlighted where all financial reports are posted on website for student's view to promote transparency. The state used to provide capital for the general repair of facilities but that is not the current system in place. However, using what we have, King Hall will have a new roof, and they are in the process of finding different areas on campus that they can provide an oasis and focus on repairing by providing irrigation, making it more attractive, and encourage students to stay for retention. With the 32-million-dollar deficit, it can't be solved by finding 32 million dollars from another source, it is by reducing costs and raising funds through work with different auxiliaries and managing funds. Taking holistic approach and those numbers will be reported to the website
- Arwa: Asked if there is an action plan to help promote CSULA to appeal to students
- Victor: Mentioned that this is an institution meant to serve the broader community and there are conversations within Strategic Communications as to how to welcome in the community
- Claudio: Explains deficit vs. structural deficit
- Ananya: Asked how we can work with local companies to bring in sponsored research or internships, etc.

- Victor: Agreed that it is something that as an institution we need to build that relationship with those parties to allow students to benefit from it
- Claudio: There are conversations with Apple and Hulu to discuss how to bring in campus partnerships.
- Victoria: Asked about statistics on Students with dependence and asked what other companies they plan on branching out to
- Victor: LA County Health and Human Services recently reached out to the campus to see how they can bring students in for internships. The Center said despite being unpaid, they hire 75% of their internships, opening job opportunities.
- Claudio: Asked us to come up with ideas on how we can contribute to this initiative to partner with the administration.
- Victor: Asked us to think about how we start a CSULA Day of Service, connects back to legacy; Started in Boston University, then became a State, then became a national, and then an international movement (across the world, people tag BUDayofService)
- Ananya: Asked how we can extend internship opportunities to international students who are unable to obtain work visas.
- Claudio: Clarified that they can provide student visas but working visas is a system issue. He mentioned that he started as an international student and is aware of the struggles those students face. Stated that when the CSU agreed to have unified insurance for international students that will drop the required health insurance from $2400 to $1900, he was able to vote at that table to push for it. Stated while the government may have difficulty providing those visas, private companies are more easily able to provide that opportunity.
- Dena: Asked if we still have partnership with local health institutions and shared idea for Taste of LA to get a buy in from local businesses to make it more of a college/university town. Mentioned Golf tournament to bring in golfers that can provide funding and partnerships, Earth Week where students are able to bring in, trade, and donate secondhand clothes, and the fashion show where students are able to showcase talent.
- Claudio: Shared that those opportunities and initiatives are great and need to be amplified for action.
- Victor: Shared there is a relation with Griffles that has faded overtime but is being reignited, the current golf tournament is centered for athletics as it is underfunded but there is discussion as how to expand it.

IV. Action Items

➤ Student Leader Appointment

- Yahir: Said he is waiting for interviews for 2 applicants and will not be making any appointments at this time.

➤ ASI Locker Fee Increase Proposal

- Amanda went over the posted proposal.
- Victoria: Asked if students will still rent out the lockers knowing that the price has increased
- Amanda: Said she doesn't want to speak for those students, but that can be a conversation that can be made as they come in or as it comes along in the next semester
- Caitlin: Asked if this is posted on website or social media
- Amanda: Clarified that it is posted and if the increase is improved, updated posts can be made, or she can email current students directly to inform them if they will continue with the increase
- Valerie: Asked where the funding will be allocated
- Amanda: Clarified it is not for a specific item; it will be overall distributed so that less is used from the reserves

➤ ASI Policy 023- Shared Governance Council Code of Procedure Revision

- Yahir: Clarified that they would not affect quorum as they are ex-officio members that are invited to give their reports but aren't required to attend
- Barnaby: Will clarify that they are non-voting in the policy
