❖ Discussion Items

➤ Spring Semester- The Board will discuss the current academic plans for Spring Semester.

- Diana Chavez: There has been talk that 90% will be in person and there are concerns, but what is it that you all have heard regarding the spring semester.
- Hope Hua: I have been hearing good things as people want to be more involved a concern though is that it will be really pack and new students looking for classes and what that will look like.
- Emily Chen: Seeing as I am music major I have been hearing good things as we can now start playing our instruments correctly so we are looking forward to it. One concern though is since the woodwind instruments cannot wear their mask while playing they can't get lessons and that is their whole major and they are being held back because of zoom and I think that is unfair.
- Sidney Lim: On the book exchange I saw that there is a petition to make it more hybrid than coming all at once and have more online classes. CCOE specifically I think for us we already practice asynchronous classes already so I don't think there are any issues but I don't know the plans for us yet.

- Rana Rozi: I heard that some students are comfortable with going back to class if everyone is going to be fully vaccinated.
- Diana Chavez: I have seen those petitions roaming around in social media and that is why I put this on the agenda and I know that some students want to experience campus and others are still not comfortable and I think finding a good middle.
- Amber Beasley: I know that some will prefer hybrid options and there is discussion about discretion and I think that some things that were suggested is if we can be integrated slowly back onto campus and not to 90% right away and faculty are also expressing this.
- Andrew Klein: I think people like being on line because it fits on schedule but I haven't heard anyone against going back but they want more options.
- Diana Chavez: We have to try our best to realize how things will be if we do get back and it is hard to explain how that will be. So I think the consensus is to keep this hybrid a little longer.
- Angelina Gomez: There has been talks about the regulations that are going to be set and we talked to Aaron Burgess about the mask and social distancing that is not required because of everything what the CDC has said.
- Aaron Burgess: I go out in the walk way every day and I have lunch with students often and I ask them the same questions you are all asking and they say that they want to see more student life and no one has expressed concerns about being here and as far as what this means for you and your growth and having a setting with people that think like you and when this pandemic happened we saw that this affected our mental health and this is me speaking and I think there is a growth with all of you be around each other and I witness it. When I think about coming in person and what it means for you it means that you get those soft skills that you need for the work force that make you better qualified. We are not an online school and that is not what we do best.
- Angelina Gomez: Knowing that we are coming back at 90% capacity what are some of the regulations that you know are going to take place for the safety of the students.
- Aaron Burgess: There is a big thing with contact tracing when someone does get exposed and we have Dr. Paul Kim in charge of that and I believe the transmission rate of people getting Covid is so low that some of the modified quarantines for vaccinated people will more than likely go away because if you are vaccinated and you are exposed the data shows that is not a high rate of transmission and you will be seeing that soon and the campus is doing an amazing jobs and the number of vaccinated students and I am impressed and they are above 25,000 close to 26,000 and because of this we are making decisions and seeing that it is a lot safer than we thought.
- Sidney Lim: Is Cal State LA still doing exemptions now that Pfizer got approved?
- Aaron Burgess: I have not heard anything of that but I do know that in some time in November the CDC or the FDA is expected to approve vaccinations for ages 5-12 and also we are hearing of booster shots and I don't know what it means for students yet.
- Andrew Klein: Will the university be removing the option for testing for students who do not want to get vaccinated?
- Diana Chavez: I don't think the CDC will take that away.
- Re-populating ASI- The Board will discuss the best practices in how to prepare for next Spring.
  - Diana Chavez: Next semester we will be holding meetings in person so you all will be required to attend in person meetings like this one and of course we will follow CDC guidelines. Are there questions or recommendations?
  - Analiz Marmolejo: Seeing as we don't know how the school is going to be like hybrid or all in person is it possible that we keep some meetings still virtual?
  - Diana Chavez: Since the plan is to be in person we might have to keep them in person and then we have to think what we will be doing since we will be back in person so how are we going to define repopulating the ASI office and for your question I don't have an answer.
  - Anna Nguyen: I don't see a point in doing hybrid because if we are able to have in person meetings then that means we are able to have all meetings in person.
  - Dena Florez: Keep in mind that our meetings are open so we have to take into consideration that there will be students that may participate so we might have to go over that.
  - Josue Montenegro: The USU has had several events with a good amount of people so I am sure we can have our meetings and events to keep students engaged.
  - Barnaby Peake: I was in a meeting that was talking about and right now food is still restricted and it has to be grab and go and they are asking that you don't eat in these settings but I think there are ways to work with it.

- Sidney Lim: What if we have some internal committees having those online like Analiz said a lot of those meetings don't last long since it will be a commute and having to pay for parking.
- Diana Chavez: I think we can explore this idea but I do notice that some student leaders are not as engaged as they should be if we are virtual.
- Andrew Klein: In these meetings we have to wear our mask on right?
- Diana Chavez: it depends on the CDC guidelines.
- Andrew Klein: I also feel that it is easier for students to participate if we are virtual as they don't have to go to the USU to find where it is taking place.
- Sasha Prakir: I think that there should be an option to be virtual and I think the chairs should decide. And also taking into account the schedules of the committee.
- Diana Chavez: Try to see how things are more accessible to everyone is something to discuss on and repopulating ASI is something we want to do. Does anyone crave to come back or are curious of what ASI was like in person?
- Angelina Gomez: I do since it is my first year.
- Diana Chavez: How do you all feel or have the sense of belonging in ASI?
- Andrew Klein: I think since I am going to these meetings and I have seen you all in person I do feel like I am a part of something.
- Dena Florez: I got to say that I really miss seeing the students but we will get there. As far as meetings concern I understand that but when we took the responsibility to be in ASI you would have been here.
- Diana Chavez: I look forward to seeing all of you so I just wanted to take your concerns into consideration.
- Sasha Prakir: I think my fondest memory was when Milton fell asleep in a finance meeting and it feels different.
- Andrew Klein: I have been in meetings since high school all forward to doing that again in person.
- Barnaby Peake: I feel like conversations between meetings you get more done.
- Aaron Burgess: The setting after meetings is amazing as you get to truly connect with people.
