V. Discussion Items

A. Executive Officer Evaluation

Arwa: Speaks on conversation as they are doing their job by being exec's and establishing a long steady position and make sure everyone is doing right by them and aren't getting behind and making sure, they are doing a good job and hoping to do something like we do for Barnaby's evaluation they do questions on how they are doing at their positions and getting feedback.

Jeffry: Shares they want to make sure ASI is working on their own thing but also make sure to support each other and everyone's working towards their goals.

Genesis: Shares if this is something for everyone, not just exec, feels that both should be considered.

Dena: Agrees with Genesis that this should be a collaboration within everyone and gives examples of what the pro staff does, except Barnaby, they have a self-evaluation, a self-evaluation is good for self-reflection.

Arwa: Like the idea, but also shares that by the next meeting, she and Gabriel will have the questions prepared and will go over them for revisions and interest.

Jocelyne: Wants to add that it is important to add what is going on and what people are doing such as passion projects but also make it a team and share how we can all volunteer and help people's projects and events from her experience and can be anonymous, and they are feeling supported.

Arwa: Agrees and yes, it will be anonymous, and feedback is being gathered and more.

B. University Strategic Planning Updates

Arwa: Shares briefly who she has been meeting with for the strategic planning and shares the committee's also with other people too, alongside herself and more people, shares the assignments that they are doing, such as how CSULA can be better and etc. There are 2 teams, and they turn in different surveys on different topics, but within it all and meetings for it all. Has been sent messages on ASI's Slack from all updates, such as an upcoming lunch that they can join, just let her know. But next meeting, she will have better notes for everyone.

Erick: Shares briefly about the facilities they met and talked about. They met two weeks ago and discussed introductions, with assistance from someone who had created master plans for other campuses, such as Fullerton. They also heard about what people want on campus, including relaxation areas, and plan to meet on a biweekly basis to discuss these ideas. Brian is also attending this meeting.

Jocelyne: Asks what Arwa prefers to wear at lunch, and Arwa answers polos.

C. Starting an ASI Substack Account

Jeffry: Shares him and Barnaby have been thinking ways to engage conversations with students for the forum and explains why this would be a good idea, trying to incorporate more engagement on things happening on campus but would like a space on what we are working on for the students and have them attend more things such as meetings as well, but would like to expand the platform to also make students knowledgeable on everything going on with ASI. It is a topic of content ideas they have in mind and funding policies, including all other ones.

Gabriel: Asks regarding names for the podcast.

Jeffry: Wants it to get attention, but also, this is something separate from the university, so we don't want to add anything like that.

Jocelyne: Shares her ideas and names.

Blanca: Shares her thoughts and ideas for connecting with students and allowing documentation, and hopefully, it makes an impact and grows.

D. Advocacy to preserve university budget for student needs- Senate Resolution

Jeffry: Jeffry shared updates from the recent campus budget meeting he and Arwa attended. Each division is being asked to take up to a 5% budget cut, raising equity concerns. The Senate Chair suggested ASI support a resolution urging the university to prioritize protecting core instructional costs and student services. However, ASI executives decided to first issue a "Dear Colleague" letter instead of a formal resolution to encourage dialogue and request more budget transparency, specifically, details on where funds are going and whether reallocations are possible.

Jocelyne: Asks if this is a formal letter and to whom this is being addressed.

Jeffry: Both, write a letter sent to the president and faculty, but this is to record on budget and not necessarily ask for a letter back, but maybe a meeting or dialogue.

Arwa: Thinks it is a good idea but wants background from what she has heard from both sides, and everyone is trying to do the right thing, but it is tough since this is money, but shares things she has heard from Sonoma, such as the new administration here on campus, and others. Also appreciates that the president has held to deal with things such as wildfires and ICE being round campus, and these times, and she has done a great job since she started.

Jeffry: Understands and shares what he has heard from the provost, such as looking closely at students and being a campus of opportunity, and we also provide it for them to remake it, and sometimes we spend money on things to be similar to others, but then at another section we aren't funding it enough and increase support.

E. Fee Advisory Committee and Student Success Fee Transparency

Arwa: Wants to focus more on the Student Success Fee, which is about $200 or more, and share ASI has concern on what the fee is being used for and shares the documents that campus posted, the fee largely funds salary and advisors within certain departments like which is scary that a fee is relied on a funding salary which is something that should be coming from the university and goes through the summary which is concerning and deserve transparency.

Jeffry: What could be helpful is sharing that they show where the allocation goes and think maybe if they can go ask those offices if they do get that allocation.

Arwa: Agrees

Erick: Shares his input on the fee since it has been over a decade but is clear that this is not something we want to get rid of, but making sure it is true.

Barnaby: Briefly gives some information on documents and proposals, and shares that they are showing less information now.

F. Filling at-large student seats on committees

Jeffry: Would like to fill all seats available for at-large positions, share he wants to work with that and still feel they are incorporated, and maybe have student outreach or work with other orgs or CSI on reach out across the colleges and have them filled soon and for next year

VI. Reports

A. ASI President

B. ASI Chief of Staff

Gabriel: Shares events he has been to recently, still looking for reps and interviewing people for two weeks.

C. ASI Vice President for Community Engagement

D. ASI Vice President for Finance

Erick: Shares his current meeting with the provost about programs and things they can improve on.

E. ASI Vice President for University Affairs
